This year’s Global Women’s Breakfast is Empowering Diversity for Science

Global Women’s Breakfast
February 16, 2022

Seminars are in McMillen 311 at 4 pm unless otherwise noted. For information, consult the departmental seminars page.

Washington University
The Center for Clinical Pharmacology hosts a monthly seminar series in ARB 212 unless otherwise noted. For the most up to date information refer to the seminar page.

University of Missouri–St Louis
Future meetings: The next meetings are March 10th and April 14th. Business meeting begins at 6:30 pm Join internet meeting at 6:00 pm for social/chit-chat

Saint Louis University
Seminars are approximately once a month on Thursdays, 4-5 pm. Details are available on the university’s seminars page.

Maryville University
Future meetings: March 10th and April 14th. Business meeting begins at 6:30 pm Join internet meeting at 6:00 pm for social/chit-chat

St Louis Section–ACS Board of Directors meets the second Thursday of each month over Zoom for the foreseeable future

Board of Directors

The Board of Directors meets the second Thursday of each month over Zoom for the foreseeable future. As of the last meeting, the board approved an essentially balanced 2022 budget ($1k deficit). Still, many events were canceled. This combined with National ACS section dues being larger than expected meant we ended the year with an $18k surplus. Then, trying to forecast what 2021 might look like, the Section approved an essentially balanced approved 2022 budget ($1k deficit). Still, many events were canceled. This combined with National ACS section dues being larger than expected meant we ended the year with a $32k surplus.

Deliberations were even more difficult heading into 2020 because the Section approved a significant budget deficit once again. But which is a fairly long prelude to say: here is the first published 2020 budget ($1.2k deficit). I have never condone deficit spending ad infinitum, I do hope we manage to spend our budget, as it means it is safe for our members to get together and focus on chemistry!

Which is a fairly long prelude to say: here is the first published 2020 budget ($1.2k deficit). I have never condone deficit spending ad infinitum, I do hope we manage to spend our budget, as it means it is safe for our members to get together and focus on chemistry!

If any of the categories in the budget piques your interest, please find its subcommittee and the contact info for the Chair, and get involved.

Budgeting for the future in these times

The Board of Directors meets the second Thursday of each month over Zoom for the foreseeable future. As of the last meeting, the board approved an essentially balanced 2022 budget ($1k deficit). Still, many events were canceled. This combined with National ACS section dues being larger than expected meant we ended the year with an $18k surplus. Then, trying to forecast what 2021 might look like, the Section approved an essentially balanced approved 2022 budget ($1k deficit). Still, many events were canceled. This combined with National ACS section dues being larger than expected meant we ended the year with a $32k surplus.

Deliberations were even more difficult heading into 2020 because the Section approved a significant budget deficit once again. But which is a fairly long prelude to say: here is the first published 2020 budget ($1.2k deficit). I have never condone deficit spending ad infinitum, I do hope we manage to spend our budget, as it means it is safe for our members to get together and focus on chemistry!

Which is a fairly long prelude to say: here is the first published 2020 budget ($1.2k deficit). I have never condone deficit spending ad infinitum, I do hope we manage to spend our budget, as it means it is safe for our members to get together and focus on chemistry!

If any of the categories in the budget piques your interest, please find its subcommittee and the contact info for the Chair, and get involved.

Budgeting for the future in these times

The Board of Directors meets the second Thursday of each month over Zoom for the foreseeable future. As of the last meeting, the board approved an essentially balanced 2022 budget ($1k deficit). Still, many events were canceled. This combined with National ACS section dues being larger than expected meant we ended the year with an $18k surplus. Then, trying to forecast what 2021 might look like, the Section approved an essentially balanced approved 2022 budget ($1k deficit). Still, many events were canceled. This combined with National ACS section dues being larger than expected meant we ended the year with a $32k surplus.

Deliberations were even more difficult heading into 2020 because the Section approved a significant budget deficit once again. But which is a fairly long prelude to say: here is the first published 2020 budget ($1.2k deficit). I have never condone deficit spending ad infinitum, I do hope we manage to spend our budget, as it means it is safe for our members to get together and focus on chemistry!

Which is a fairly long prelude to say: here is the first published 2020 budget ($1.2k deficit). I have never condone deficit spending ad infinitum, I do hope we manage to spend our budget, as it means it is safe for our members to get together and focus on chemistry!

If any of the categories in the budget piques your interest, please find its subcommittee and the contact info for the Chair, and get involved.